Thumbs in Social Customs

Few persons realize how important a role the thumb has played in the social customs of the people.

Erskine records that among certain classes of people in Scotland the final settlement of a bargain was always signalized by the licking and joining of thumbs.

Selden says that kissing the thumb was a characteristic of servility. The clergy, the rich and the great, were in receipt of this honor from tradesmen.

From remote times the practice of licking the thumb has been regarded as a solemn pledge or promise, existing, according to Tacitus and others, among the Goths, the Iberians and the Moors, and it may also be traced through successive periods down to the present time.

Washing day, or rather washing week, is so important a period in the Balkan region that all family and social obligations retire to the background when it has to be considered, writes a traveller. I have known a Cabinet Minister's wife to excuse herself from attendance at a court function because it collided with the appointment made with her laundress! This, too, in spite of the full quotient of servants, footman, cook, housemaid and old masters. None of these was privileged or efficient enough to meet the formidable laundress and satisfy her requirements. Therefore, the lady stayed at home to fill the breach, and a sympathetic queen accepted the explanation with a readiness born of full understanding.

The Terror of Asthma comes like a thief in the night with its dreadful throttling, robbing its victim of breath. It seems beyond the power of human aid to relieve until one trial is made of that remarkable preparation, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Then relief comes with a rush. Life becomes worth living, and if the remedy be used persistently, the disease is put permanently to rout. Take no substitute.

Parental Testimony

I don't blame young people for being rather self-confident and aggressive, said the conservative citizen.

You think the rising generation is entitled to consider itself superior?

Beyond question. You are constantly hearing parents telling what smart things their children say, and you never hear children repeating any clever observations by their parents.—Washington Star.

Ask for Minard's and have no other.

The Way to Meet Work

The beauty of work depends upon the way we meet it—whether we arm ourselves each morning to attack it as an enemy that must be vanquished before night comes, or whether we open our eyes with the sunrise to welcome it as an approaching friend who will keep us delightful company all day and who will make us feel at evening that the day was well worth its fatigues.

City Life

I can't get much sleep these May mornings.

Why not?

Well, besides a garage, there are several stables in the back yard of my house.

Yes?

And as soon as the last joy rider gets in, the first milk wagon starts out.—Washington Herald.

RASH SO BAD BABY
CAME NEAR DYING

Head Broke Out. Spread to Arms, Legs and Entire Body. Itched So He Would Scratch Until Blood Ran. One Box of Cuticura Ointment and Nearly One Cake of Cuticura Soap Cured Him. Has Had No Return.

"When my boy was about three months old, his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he took fainting spells as if he were dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago, and there has been no return of the trouble. I shall be glad to have you publish this true statement of his cure." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Matland, Jasper, Ontario, May 27, 1910.

For more than a generation mothers have found a speedy, agreeable and economical treatment for their skin-disturbed little ones in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Although they are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each may be obtained free, from the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 23 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

GOOD HEALTH
FOR YOUNG GIRLS

They Need the New Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make

Perhaps you have noticed that your daughter in her "teens" has developed a fitful temper, is restless and excitable. That she complains of weakness and depression; feels tired out after a little exertion; appetite variable, complains of headaches and is growing pale. In that case remember that the march of time is leading her on to womanhood, and that at this period a great responsibility rests upon mothers. These are symptoms of anaemia—that is bloodlessness, and no time should be lost in increasing and enriching the blood supply. Unhealthy girlhood almost always leads to unhealthy womanhood. All young girls in their teens need the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which enrich and increase the blood supply, and give slowly drooping girls the brightness and charm of perfect health. In proof of this Miss Zola Gordier, Morrisburg, Ont., says: "I was pale and bloodless and suffered from many of the symptoms of anaemia. I would tire easily and suffered from frequent headaches. My appetite was poor and I was very pale and easily discouraged. The medicine I was taking did not seem to help me, and then one day I read the story of a young girl who suffered similarly and was cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes of the pills and started to take them. Before they were done I began to feel better and look better. Then I got half a dozen more boxes, and before they were all used I was enjoying the best of health, and have continued to do so since. My young brother was troubled with rheumatism, and they completely cured him."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rome is busily laying plans for an electric railroad running to the sea coast at Ostia, together with a subway tunnel for the part which crosses town. Work will begin as soon as the Government grants the franchise. The subway starts from the centre of the town, near the Forum, and runs to the city limits at the St. Paul's Gate. It will accommodate a double-track tunnel. It is planned to finish the subway part of the line in three years, and then begin on the Rome-Ostia line, which will take about two years to build.

Made-in-Canada Train

IN DIDSBURY ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Lethbridge, Alta., June 10.—The trip of the Made-in-Canada exhibition train is proceeding with unabated success, the total attendance so far exceeding 160,000. Unanimous approval of the project and surprise at the wide variety of Canada made goods are manifest on every hand. At all the smaller towns a general holiday is associated with the presence of the train, even banks and postoffices at such points as Morse, Mortlach, Herbert, Elbow, Eyebrow and Maple Creek closing for two or three hours. Mr. Scully, manager of the exhibition, continues to receive requests daily for stops at points not on the schedule. The latest comes from Arden, Man., accompanied by a petition signed by the business men and farmers. It is regretted that owing to the necessity of adhering to the schedule the management has to decline these numerous invitations. Advance reports from points between Lethbridge and Edmonton show that the train is awaited with great interest. At Lethbridge 7,000 people attended the train and at Medicine Hat 4,800, Macleod 1,500, and so on everywhere the train has stopped. It will be worth your while to come and see it as it is an eye opener on Canadian made industries.

Good Publicity for Didsbury

A recent issue of the Overseas Daily Mail, published in London, Eng., contained an account of the formation of a branch of the Overseas Club in Didsbury, which has resulted in starting correspondence with the secretary of the local club, Mr. Alf. Jury, from a gentleman in New Jersey, U. S., who formerly lived in Didsbury, near Manchester, Eng., by the name of Ed. Davis. This gentleman asks for photos and literature of Didsbury to be sent to him, and also encloses in his letter a photo of the main street in the town named Didsbury in England which shows a fine street with good business buildings on each side. Unfortunately there is very little literature describing the town and district available to send to him but what can be gathered up is being sent.

The fishery regulations have lately been altered, some very important changes having been made. Suddenly, as she passed Harry, she turned to stare in his face, and then burst into a shriek of rage.

"A Clavel!" she cried. "I know you by his wicked eyes. Give me some hat to let me see!"

Stooping, she began to tear up by the roots the grass which bordered the graves and to fling handfuls of earth at Harry.

A little crowd gathered, and the woman was held back and remonstrated with.

"Tis Jenny Collet, poor soul!" a woman explained to Harry as he walked quickly away. "You mustn't mind her. She's been soft in the head since her husband was killed. She takes you for a Clavel, and she hates the sight of me."

An overpowering restlessness came over Harry after luncheon, which on Sunday was a heavy and solemn rite, served by Mrs. Anning in a tight gown of violet silk. The only literature available at the farm consisted of "Hymns Ancient and Modern," the back numbers of the "Grazier's Gazette," and some tales for the young. Harry was not in the mood for such innocuous reading, and at three o'clock he sallied forth, in a waterproof tweed shooting suit, gaiters and a deer-stalker cap, proof against all inclemencies of the weather. He had tramped for four miles along the Bloxham road, with his hands in his pockets and a cigarette in his mouth, when he saw approaching him a large closed conveyance, evidently a private carriage, drawn by two handsome horses. Private carriages were rare in the neighborhood from his experience, and as he stood aside to avoid the mud thrown up by the wheels he glanced towards the window of the vehicle.

Immediately the one before him was let down and the face of a very pretty woman was thrust forth excitedly.

"Browning!" she cried to the coachman. "Stop, stop at once! This is the gentleman we are coming to see. Mr. Worth, we were going to visit you. This is my uncle, Mr. Denzil Warden."

Miss Morgan's uncle was a well-built man of sixty who looked much younger than his age. He was fresh-colored and fair, with sandy hair that was barely touched with grey. But in his light grey eyes and aquiline features, a harsh and disagreeable expression lingered. He was an unpopular man and he knew it and cared but little on the subject. He had loved his wife and his only son, and he had expended an astonishing amount of hatred upon the whole family of Clavels. These two outputs of feeling seemed to have exhausted his emotional stores, and he regarded people in general with cold distrust. He did not want to be bothered with his niece, but he had sent for her in order to prevent his housekeeper from trying to marry him, and for the purpose of annoying some nephews and nieces with whom he had quarrelled.

Like many disagreeable men, however, Denzil Warden could at times show much urbanity, especially when he considered that his social position required it. He greeted Harry now with something like warmth of manner.

"I wanted very much to meet you, Mr. Clavelworth," he said, "to express my obligation to you for the plucky way in which you stopped my niece's horse last Thursday. I have only just come to know of it, or I should have called on you before. We have come to carry you off to dinner, if you have nothing more amusing to do on a wet Sunday evening. Jump in now, and we'll take you back with us to Vale House."

Harry did what he could to get out of the invitation, but Denzil Warden insisted upon his accepting it.

"I am much too wet to enter your carriage," the young man protested. "And I can't drive with you in a tweed shooting suit."

He would have been glad of the break in a dull day, but for the fact that neither his host nor Lillas Morgan had the least idea that he was in reality one of the hated Clavels. He noticed that Mr. Warden called him Mr. Clavelworth, and surmised that Lillas had mispronounced his name, either intentionally or by accident, in speaking of him. But whatever his scruples were, he had no chance of paying attention to them, for Mr. Warden declared that "one dressed as one liked here in the wilds," and that, as Harry was about his own size he could lend him some dress clothes for the occasion while his own suit was being dried.

The carriage had turned off the Bloxham road during the discussion and passed through lonely country roads bordered by stone quarries and past a few scattered dairy farms into the more precipitous region of the "Downs" and "Barrows." Beyond them the carriage entered through the gates of an unpretentious lodge, the private grounds of Vale House.

The building lay in a valley sheltered by steep uplands; it was surrounded by trees, and commanded splendid views of sea and land in every direction.

The house was a huge grey stone erection of Georgian days, mirrored in a lake. There was an unbroken line about the place inside and out, in spite of its beautiful surroundings and the wealth of its owner. The guest-room into which Harry was shown looked sufficiently chill and repellent to shorten the stay of any visitor, and the servant who showed him to it was grim and melancholy of aspect as an undertaker's assistant. He laid a suit of his master's on a sofa covered by stiff red and white chintz, and Harry was glad to change for he felt he could not appear unceremoniously in that austere establishment.

"If you are ready, sir, Miss Morgan would like to offer you a cup of tea." Harry followed the man-servant along a corridor and down a staircase and through a great drawing-room wherein the furniture was all chintz-shrouded, to a cozy little apartment in which two ladies were seated at tea.

Minard's Liniment, the Lumberman's Friend.

The new cook came out and did very well her first morning at Lonelyville. After dinner, she approached the head of the house.

"How early must I get up in the morning?" she inquired.

"Well, said Mr. Subbubs, the first train for the city leaves here at 6.35. You'll have to get up about 6 if you want to make that.—Washington Herald.

Dysentery corrodes the intestines and speedily eats away the lining, bringing about dangerous conditions that may cause death. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial clears the intestinal canals of the germs that cause the inflammation, and by protecting the lining from further ravages restores them to healthy condition. Those subject to dysentery should not be without this simple yet powerful remedy.

Not Like Mother Made

Johnny and his mother were dining with a friend. The first course was chicken soup with macaroni in it. The hostess watched Johnny as he sat quietly gazing into his plate. Finally she asked:

"Why don't you eat your soup, Johnny?"

"I don't care for it, please, ma'am. But your mamma said you liked chicken soup."

"I do like mamma's chicken soup, but she don't put the wild-pipes in—Judge."

Cited an Exception

A religious worker, while visiting a Western town, gave a "Talk for Men," during the course of which he expressed his conviction that no young man should visit any place to which he would not feel justified in taking his own sister.

Is there any young man present who thinks one may safely disregard this wise rule? asked the speaker.

Whereupon a youth in the rear of the hall stood up and said in a loud stentorian tone:

Yes, sir. I do.

And what, sir, demanded the angry and surprised speaker, is the place which you yourself would think of visiting to which you could not take your sister?

The barber's shop, replied the youth.

Lord Roseberry, in a London address on tuberculosis, said that preventive measures had reduced the mortality from consumption in London by 33 per cent., between 1901 and 1909, and by 14 per cent. in England and Wales for the same period. Nearly forty thousand lives were saved which would have been lost under the average conditions of the decade of 1871-1880.

Holes in Her Stockings

The eternal feminine crops out in the current story of the nervous woman to whom the throat specialist, while adjusting a larynx, preparatory to an examination, remarked:

Madame, you'd be surprised to hear how far down we men see with this wonderful instrument.

A pause followed, and then the patient faltered:

Doctor, before you begin, perhaps I ought to tell you that I really hadn't time to mend the holes in my stockings before I came here.

Her expression of concern over appearances was as instinctive as that of the tidy New England mother who rushed from the kitchen into the hall after a crash, and enquired if any oil had been spilled on the carpet, when her daughter fell down the front stairs with a kerosene lamp.

Evening Things up

What did Mrs. Kloseman give you for cutting her grass? asked Tommy's mother.

Nothing, replied Tommy. Why, she promised you 10 cents, didn't she?

Yes, but I used her sickle to do it with, and she charged me 10 cents for the use of it.—Catholic Standard and Times.

Prison Habits

For ten years past, said the new boarder at the seaside, my habits have been regular as clockwork.

I rose on the stroke of six, half an hour later I sat at breakfast; at seven I was at work, dined at twelve, ate supper at six, and was in bed at half past nine, ate only solid food, and hadn't a single illness all that time."

The Kaiser's Daughter

Before setting out for Vienna and Venice, William II, Emperor of Germany awaited at Berlin for his daughter, whom he calls his "best boy." She whom he calls his "best boy." She returned from Switzerland, where she made, according to the official version, a sojourn for her health. The gossip of the German court says this was really a lark to escape from the presence of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, to whom they wish to marry her without her consent. The Emperor and Empress were at the station when she arrived.

Hardly had the train stopped when the Princess hastily descended from the coach, and throwing herself impetuously into the arms of her father, exclaimed: "I will not marry him." The Emperor, smiling enigmatically responded: "I shall occupy myself with this alliance after the others." It is now said that this marriage can never take place, as the Grand Duke has withdrawn from the field.

The Poet

The poet sang of sparkling rills
And bursting buds and country lanes
And violets and daffodils

And sweet, refreshing April rains,
All muffled up and having chills,
And doped with seven kinds of pills,
He sat where smoke and fog were thick,

And looking from his window where
It furnished little light or air,
Saw but a wall composed of brick
And as he looked and as he wrote
A lump rose in the poet's throat.

For he was weak and sad and sick;
Fear, he said beneath his breath
That I am doomed to starve to death
Unless I sell this mighty quick.

Therefore the poet wrote away,
Of promises that spring fulfill,
And bravely let his fancy stray
To glaucous over distant hills.

"During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving this remedy a fair trial, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements."

CANADA TO PARTICIPATE IN PROPOSED PEACE CELEBRATION

Will Join With Great Britain and the United States in Celebration of One Hundred Years of Peace Between English Speaking Nations

Ottawa.—Canada has taken steps to join with Great Britain and the United States in joining two years from now in the proposed celebration of the hundred years of peace between the two great branches of the English-speaking people.

The decision to do so was reached at probably the most representative gathering ever held in Ottawa. Under the presidency of Sir Edmund Walker, statesmen, leaders in intellectual thought, captains of industry and representative women gathered together to arrange for Canada's participation in the peace centennial.

A representative committee was appointed to draw up the basis of the association which will be formed to arrange for Canada's cooperation and there is every prospect that it will be fully representative of every part of the Dominion.

Sam Baker, M.P., of Hamilton, moved that Sir Edmund Walker take the chair, and this was carried. Sir Edmund made a statement as to the object of the gathering, explaining that a committee formed in the United States has been at work on the project for some time, and that considerable correspondence had been carried on with that committee. Steps had also been taken in Great Britain for that purpose. It having become necessary for some one to take the first step, a circular had been issued, in response to which the gathering of today had taken place. Sir Edmund added some observations as to the interest of the English-speaking world in the passage of the Treaty of Ghent, which had started this period of peace.

John G. H. Perley read a letter from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, stating that he was confined to his home with lumbago, and would not be able to be present much to his regret.

Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, speaking on behalf of the government, expressed his pleasure at seeing so many prominent and distinguished citizens of Canada present, and to express the interest and sympathy of the government with the object of celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of peace between Great Britain and the United States, the two great branches of the English-speaking peoples of the world.

It will be a great, a unique occasion, although I am happy to say that in one year Great Britain and France will be able to celebrate a like occasion. A resolution was adopted authorizing the formation of the Canada peace centenary, the formation of which was left to a committee composed of Sir Edmund Walker, Toronto, chairman; Hon. W. T. White, Hon. G. H. Perley, Hon. T. W. Crothers, Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Ottawa; Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, Toronto; Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Ottawa; Hon. Mackenzie King, Ottawa; Sir R. W. Scott, Ottawa; Hon. David Laird, Ottawa; Hon. J. A. Mathieson, premier Prince Edward Island.

Sub-committees for the western provinces were named as follows:

Manitoba.—Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, Winnipeg; J. A. M. Aikins, M.P., Winnipeg; Sanford Evans, Winnipeg; J. W. Dufour, Winnipeg; M. E. Nichols, Winnipeg; R. L. Richardson, Winnipeg; Rev. S. G. Chown, D.D., Winnipeg.

Sask.—Bishop of Qu'Appelle, F. W. G. Haultain, M.P.P., Commissioner Perry, R.N.W.M.P.; Senator Douglass, President Walter H. Murray, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon.

Morrison, Vegreville, President Tory, University of Alberta, Edmonton; Principal S. W. Doyle, Edmonton; Rev. D. G. McQueen, D.D., Edmonton; Rev. J. A. Clark, Calgary.

Attachments from such points as Winnipeg and many of the smaller towns of the province from Saskatchewan and British Columbia will be also strongly represented by officers and men.

H.B. RAILWAY TENDERS

Government Will Let Work on Second Section of Sixty Eight Miles

Ottawa.—Within the next few days the Department of Railways will advertise for tenders for the second section of the Hudson Bay Railway. This will comprise 68 miles between Split Lake Junction and Thicket Port. The tenders, it is expected, will be kept open until about the end of July in order that prospective tenderers may have an opportunity to ascertain the nature of the country through which the section runs and make their specifications.

Helping Out the Australian Fleet

London.—Arrangements have been made whereby the admiralty will lend the cruiser Encounter to the Australian squadron for the purpose of training crews. The Encounter will be recommissioned with specially qualified officers and a nucleus crew. The note imparting this information to the Australian government concludes: "We will continue to aid in the development of the Australian fleet by every means in our power."

Warships go to China

Washington.—Rear Admiral Osterhaus has notified the navy department that he has designated the battleships Missouri, Mississippi, Minnesota, and Ohio, the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet to go to Guantanamo. He does not say when the ships will leave. Rear-Admiral Usher commands the division.

WANTS FIRST WRIGHT CRAFT

Englishman Urges That it be Placed Beside Stephenson's Rocket

London.—The writer of a letter in the Daily Mail suggests that now is the time for the British nation to obtain one of the original Wright biplanes at comparatively moderate cost. He points out that at the South Kensington Museum is George Stephenson's locomotive, the Rocket, a symbol of the great world transport revolution of the nineteenth century, and adds:

"Why not possess ourselves of a national memorial to a great man by buying at once an example of the great transport invention of the twentieth century?"

Looking Toward the Future

Calgary, Alta.—The gathering of representatives of Western boards of trade in Calgary during the exhibition week in July is regarded as the most important meeting of commercial bodies yet held in Western Canada. The principal interest of the meeting will be the discussion of conditions and opportunities likely to be brought about by the opening of the Panama canal. The opinion is becoming general that long before the opening of the canal the C.P.R. will have double-tracked its road from Brandon to the Pacific Coast, as double rails are already laid from Lake Superior to Brandon; and even at that it is likely to tax the resources of railways and Canadian steamship lines plying between Vancouver and Liverpool via the canal to take the grain crops out of the country each season.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier's Trip

Ottawa.—The Hon. L. P. Pelletier, postmaster-general, will leave Canada at the end of the month or the beginning of July for a trip to England and France. The Hon. Mr. Pelletier will combine rest with business for at present he is far from well and hopes to secure some of his lost health by the ocean voyage. While in England he will take up the subject of cheaper cable rates as he promised last session. It is hoped, and while in France, the question of postal rates will be discussed.

TO ESTABLISH SAMPLE MARKETS

September of Next Year the Opening—Expert Buyers, Capital and Organization Necessary

Ottawa.—Hon. G. E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce, in a statement given to the public says:

Since the agitation for government elevators, private capital has kept largely out of the business of providing terminal storage. The uncertainty prevented decisive action. No one cared to go ahead, until the business was on a permanent basis. With the notices given, the individuals and companies will now know the policy to be pursued and can make arrangements accordingly.

The main portion of the statement given is to the effect that sample markets will be established by order-in-council in September, 1913.

Notice is necessary, says Mr. Foster, in order that the desired competition as is essential for a sample market may be had. Expert buyers will have to be on hand, possibly more capital and organization must be put into the buying process and terminal facilities be provided for storage and blending.

Cubans to Arm With Krag-Jorgenson Rifles

Washington.—The state department authorized the war department to honor the application of the Cuban government for 5,000 rifles and one million rounds of ammunition, which are to be used to arm the volunteers and the guards organized by the plantation owners to protect their property against the insurgents.

President Gomez wanted the latest type of Springfield rifle similar to the 10,000 already supplied to the Cuban army. When it was found that such arms could not be sold without express authority from Congress, and as it would take some time to secure the necessary legislation, the Cuban government decided to accept Krag-Jorgenson rifles instead.

These are practically new weapons, reliable and put in thorough order when having been supplied with new barrels they were withdrawn from the regular army and set apart to form a reserve supply of about 100,000 stand to equip a volunteer army in case of need.

The weapons will be sold to the Cuban government at about $5 each, plus express charges.

Canada's Exhibit at Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis.—The controversy between the land department of the Canadian government and the Wisconsin State Fair Board took on a more serious aspect on Monday, when an official order was received from the government at Ottawa by the representative of the land department in Milwaukee that money in any amount must not be spared to make the Canadian exposition here at the time of the state fair the greatest Canadian exposition ever held in the United States. The order further stated that the 79th Cameron Highlanders band of Winnipeg, will be ordered to Milwaukee for fair week and that a parade over two miles in length of Canadian grown products of the soil will be organized. Several hundred Canadian horses from the Northwest will be sent to draw the monster floats.

Lord Strathcona is Granted Medal

London.—The Albert medal of the Royal Society of Arts for the current year has been awarded by the council with the approval of the president of the society, H. R. H., the Duke of Connaught, to Lord Strathcona for his services in improving rail communications, developing the resources and promoting the commerce and industry of Canada and other parts of the British Empire.

New Bust of Sir Wilfrid

Ottawa.—The statement is made that an order has been given to Paul Chevrin, the sculptor, to carve a new bust of Sir Wilfrid to replace the damaged bust which now adorns the rotunda of the Chateau Laurier. The figure fell when it was being put in place and the nose suffered some injury. The new bust will be ready in the course of a few months.

Welcome for Canadian Cadets

Ottawa.—Hon. Sam Hughes, minister of militia has received a cable from Hon. Mr. Pierce, minister of militia for Australia, announcing that the Canadian cadets from British Columbia, who are to visit Australia this summer, will be given a state welcome by the commonwealth government.

ENDORSES IMPERIAL FLEET

J. Norton Griffiths Approves of Suggestion Emanating From Canada

London.—Speaking at Staffordshire J. Norton Griffiths, M.P., said that he endorsed to the full Hon. Winston Churchill's suggestion which emanated from some of Canada's leading journals for the creation of a great imperial fleet, controlled by a special board of the admiralty, composed of representatives of the dominions and the mother country. Such a board would gradually absorb the present board of the admiralty and would lead to the creation of the greatest and most powerful fleet within the power of the British Empire to create. Were a spot like Malta in the Mediterranean chosen as headquarters, it would be an excellent base from which at chosen times, they could visit the different dominions and pay these visits of courtesy to foreign countries which the great trade of the empire demanded.

Indians Held for Murder

Medicine Hat.—At the inquest at Bassano to inquire into the death of Mounted policeman E. Davies, who was found foully murdered on Monday night, some damaging evidence was submitted against the two Indians and the squaw who are under arrest charged with the officer's death.

During the course of the examination it was found that there were blood stains on the clothes of one of the bucks. This, he said, was caused by his nose bleeding. He seemed rather backward in talking about it.

The officers also stated that when they arrested the Indians they found the mounted policeman's guns, belt, chaps and horse in their possession, while one of them had the officer's purse and money in his possession. The officers ventured the suggestion that the blood on the Indian's clothes got there when he was rifling the pockets of the officer after the deed. The officer when found was lying in a pool of blood.

The chief of police of Bassano and two of his men arrested the two bucks and the squaw, the latter with her little pipoose. They were sleeping dead drunk, at the Indian reservation between Bassano and South-east. In this condition they were unable to offer any resistance and before they became aware of the fact they were secured.

Belgium in State of Eruption

Brussels.—Belgium is in a state of eruption on account of the recent elections and rioting throughout the country has taken on a revolutionary character.

Many persons have been killed or wounded in various cities and a large number of reserves have been called to the colors.

The agitation in the industrial centres is rapidly increasing; every hour brings news of fresh protests by the laboring classes against the government victories.

The national disorders generally are attributed to the acute disappointment of the laboring classes over the pronounced victory of the clericals in the recent elections. The Socialists allied themselves with the Liberals on the public school question in opposition to the policy hoping thereby to win a majority of the seats in the Chamber.

Their failure to do so caused a wave of anger to sweep over the country.

The latest reports from the provinces show that the strike has spread over the entire Liege basin and has tied up most of the collieries and big metal industries.

Cost of Living Was Never Higher

New York.—It costs more to live in this month of June, 1912, than ever before in the history of the United States except perhaps during war times. Prices were high a year ago, but today they are on the average nearly 10 per cent higher, according to trade authorities quotations.

Food products are the highest on record. Meat, eggs, butter, fish, potatoes, coffee, tea, sugar, salt, molasses, rice, beans and peas average 22 per cent higher and wheat, corn, oats, barley, flour, etc. 33 per cent higher.

Fruits are the only thing good to eat that have grown cheaper during this last twelve months but they are still higher than in 1910. Leather products cost 12 per cent, and chemicals and drugs 13 per cent, more than a year ago. Textile goods, however, are a trifle cheaper.

Free Russia From Machine Monopoly

St. Petersburg, Russia.—The agricultural committee has submitted to the Duma a bill appropriating $60,000 to be used in testing British, German, Canadian and other agricultural machinery, with the aim of freeing Russian agriculture from the American monopoly.

STOCKING BIG RANCH

Gordon, Ironside and Fares Bringing Cattle From Texas

North Portal, Sask.—There cleared the customs office recently one of the largest shipments of cattle that ever entered Canada at this point, being a train of twenty-five cars, totalling 996 Texas cattle shipped from El Paso and consigned to Gordon, Ironside & Fares, Lethbridge. They will be placed on the Blood Indian reserve near Cardston. This is the first of a shipment of 4,000 to be placed on this ranch.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XI.—SECOND QUARTER, FOR JUNE 16, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xli, 2-19. Memory Verses, 68—Golden Text, Luke xli, 25. R.V.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

According to the harmony of the gospels, the Sermon on the Mount was followed by His using Simon Peter's boat as a pulpit and then filling their net with fishes after a night of fruitless toil. After that came the healing of the leper and the blind man, the call of Matthew and the feast he prepared in his own house, the healing of the impotent man at Bethesda, the man in the synagogue with the withered hand, the night of prayer, the choosing of the twelve, the question on the plain, the healing of the centurion's servant, the raising to life of the widow's son and much preaching day by day. Whether this is quite correct as to the order of events or not is not all important if we can by faith see ourselves day by day with Him who, being anointed with the Holy Ghost and with power, went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the devil, God being with him, and doing through Him the miracles and signs and wonders (Acts x, 38, 42).

There was one great and good man who did not see these wonders of His power from day to day, for he was shut up in a prison to the truth's sake, but he heard of them and evidently wondered why the one upon whom he had seen the Spirit descend like a dove and remain upon Him who, he had been told by God, was the Messiah and whom he had pointed out as the Lamb of God (John i, 34-36), did not deliver him from prison, for it had been predicted concerning Him that He would proclaim liberty to the captives and the opening of the prison to them that are bound (Isa. lxi, 1). As far as we know Jesus never visited John in prison nor sent him any message up to the time, and the father of lies was no doubt very busy with John questioning the way of God and the love of God and insinuating that, after all, John must have been mistaken in pointing out Jesus as the Messiah. If John had not been in some way and in some measure offended with Jesus would He have sent him the message He did "Blessed is he who ever shall not be offended in Me" (Verse 6). To the question of John through the two disciples whom he sent, "Art thou he that should or do we look for another?" (verse 3), Jesus in that same hour wrought many miracles and said, "Go your way and tell John what things ye have seen and heard," and then He added the words about not being offended (Luke xli, 20-23). At one time Jesus said to the Jews, "If I do not the works of my Father believe Me not, but if I do, though ye believe not Me, believe the works that ye may know and believe that the Father is in Me and I in Him" (John x, 37, 38). All this is in accord with last week's lesson on the necessity of works as an evidence, and doing always precedes teaching. (Matt. v, 19; Mark vi, 30; Acts i, 1, 4, 20; Luke xli, 19). Notwithstanding all His mighty works on behalf of Israel when and after He had brought them out of Egypt, they were constantly being offended with Him and murmuring against Him. They spake against Him, they believed not in Him, against Him, they believed not in Him, they provoked Him, they forgot Him, and many a time He, being full of compassion, turned His anger away from them, for He remembered that they were his flesh (Is. lxxviii). What a picture of ourselves and how much we need that absolute confidence in Him and obedience in Him at all times which will then keep us from ever being offended (John xvi, 1-4).

The disciples of John having departed, Jesus said to the multitude that John was a reed shaken with the wind nor was he indeed the messenger predicted by Isaiah, and no greater prophet was ever born of woman, and if they had received him he would have been to them Elijah. Compare Matt. xvii, 12, 13, but do not fail to notice in the preceding verses that the real Elijah is yet to come. The saying, "He that is least in the kingdom of Heaven is greater than he" (verse 11), has perplexed many because they have not noticed the meaning of "a the kingdom" and have not understood that the kingdom cannot come until the King comes back again. Then the least in His resurrection glory will be greater than John was, and John himself will be greater than he ever was before. The kingdom was at hand when Jesus was on earth. It was in their midst in His person, as He said in Luke xli, 21, margin, but they did not recognize Him or it, but by force resisted it, ill treating John and later Himself and doing to both as their rebellious wicked hearts prompted them. He therefore told them plainly that the kingdom would not come at that time and not until His return (Luke xix, 11-13). I am continually perplexed by statements from men who ought to understand about the extension and the advancement of a kingdom that is not yet begun. Neither John nor Jesus Christ can please some people, and the number of those whom the Bible does not suit seems to be increasing, but the word of the Lord stands, and "wisdom is vindicated by her actions" (verse 19, Weymouth).

Some of the Virtues of the Hog

They multiply ten times as rapidly as horses, seven times as rapidly as cattle and five times as rapidly as sheep. They produce one pound of gain live weight on 25 per cent. less feed than do cattle or sheep and in proportion to their live weight yield a 50 per cent. heavier dressed carcass. Of a given weight of dressed pork and beef, there is 5 per cent. more edible meat on the hog carcass, and one pound of pork will sustain a man at hard labor 20 per cent. longer than will a like amount of beef or mutton.

There is no kind of meat that lends itself to curing purposes as well as does pork. For this reason it is the staple meat on the farm. Every farmer should raise enough pork to supply his own family and most Alberta farmers will find a few hogs are handy things to have around when a note comes due. The dairy cow to meet running expenses and the hog to lift the mortgage is a combination hard to beat on any farm.

Those subject to dysentery should not be without this simple yet powerful remedy.

Not Like Mother Made

Johnny and his mother were dining with a friend. The first course was chicken soup with macaroni in it. The hostess watched Johnny as he sat quietly gazing into his plate. Finally she asked:

"Why don't you eat your soup, Johnny?"

I don't care for it, please, ma'am. But your mamma said you liked chicken soup.

I do like mamma's chicken soup, but she don't put the wind-pipes in—Judge.

Cited an Exception

A religious worker, while visiting a Western town, gave a "Talk for Men," during the course of which he expressed his conviction that no young man should visit any place to which he would not feel justified in taking his own sister.

Is there any young man present who thinks one may safely disregard this wise rule? asked the speaker.

Whereupon a youth in the rear of the hall stood up and said in a loud stentorian tone:

Yes, sir. I do.

And what, sir, demanded the angry and surprised speaker, is the place which you yourself would think of visiting to which you could not take your sister?

The barber's shop, replied the youth.

DOGS OF THE YUKON

They are Born Fighters. Inveterate Thieves, Sometimes Cowards

Dogs in Alaska are of all breeds and sizes, the most common being the malamute or native dog, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine. The word "malamute" is an Indian word, meaning Eskimo and is applied to both dogs and natives. The malamute is of the wolf strain—in fact, the best of the breed are half wolf. They evince all the characteristics of the wolf, both in appearance and in manners.

Owing to his wolflike fur, the malamute can easily stand the extreme Alaskan cold. He is a born fighter, an inveterate thief and somewhat of a coward, for he will seldom fight singly against a lone adversary. The malamute while well able to withstand the cold, does not seem to have the same order of intelligence as is displayed by the outside dog, and the best dog for Alaska would seem to be a mixture of the two strains.

Small dogs, such as fox terriers are a rarity in Alaska, for in that country a dog is valuable in exact proportion to the amount he can pull. A sleigh dog will weigh anything from 30 to 150 pounds, the average being about 57 pounds.

Dogs in Alaska, when on the trail, are fed once a day after the day's work is done. They are never fed in the morning, for if they were they would be lazy all day, or, what is more probable, would vomit up their breakfast soon after they got on the trail. Dogs, to work well, must be well fed.

They get a variety of foods, including rice, tallow, corn meal, and fish. If rice or corn meal forms a part of their food it must be cooked. Some men prefer to feed their dogs on bacon or fish, thus doing away with cooking.

The Yukon sled, while not a thing of beauty is built to stand all kinds of hard wear. The sled is about eight feet long, is made of any kind of hard wood, lies close to the ground, costs from $10 to $14, and makes a trail 16 inches in width. Another pattern is known as the basket sleigh and is to the Yukon sleigh what a three-masted schooner is to a coal barge. In length it is from eight to fifteen feet, is made of birch, oak, or hickory, cuts a trail 22 inches in width, costs from $40 to $2000, is raised a foot or more from the runners, and, in the best examples, is lashed together with rawhide.

The basket sleigh, as its name implies, is fitted with a basket, into which the load is placed, and from the back of the basket a pair of handles project to be used in guiding the sled on the trail. In very cold weather wooden runners are best, but in ordinary circumstances steel or brass runners are used.

Holes in Her Stockings

The eternal feminine crops out in the current story of the nervous woman to whom the throat specialist, while adjusting a larynx, preparatory to an examination, remarked:

Madame, you'd be surprised to hear how far down we men see with this wonderful instrument.

A pause followed, and then the patient faltered:

Doctor, before you begin, perhaps I ought to tell you that I really hadn't time to mend the holes in my stockings before I came here.

Her expression of concern over appearances was as instinctive as that of the tidy New England mother who rushed from the kitchen into the hall after a crash, and enquired if any oil had been spilled on the carpet, when her daughter fell down the front stairs with a kerosene lamp.

Prolonging Human Life

The astounding and gratifying fact is claimed that in the last half century an average of twelve years has been added to the period of human life. Since the first actual records were taken in New York city in the middle of the '80's the rate of mortality has been reduced from thirty-five deaths in each thousand inhabitants to about fifteen or sixteen. This reduction has resulted from the control of infectious diseases. The saving thus made relates only to the period of life under 50 years. There is no saving knowledge regarding the organic diseases of advancing years, which afflict especially those who have been active in affairs and who are taxed with large responsibilities.—Christian Herald.

Lord Roseberry, in a London address on tuberculosis, said that preventive measures had reduced the mortality from consumption in London by 33 per cent., between 1901 and 1909, and by 14 per cent. in England and Wales for the same period. Nearly forty thousand lives were saved which would have been lost under the average conditions of the decade of 1871-1880.

Evening Things up

What did Mrs. Kloseman give you for cutting her grass? asked Tommy's mother.

Yes, but I used her sickle to do it with, and she charged me 10 cents for the use of it.—Catholic Standard and Times.

How Rome Was Saved

How are you on ancient history, inquired the Wood Street man.

Fine, declared the sage of Smithfield Street. Ask me anything you want to know.

I was trying to recall the facts about those geese that cackled and thus saved Rome.

I remember the episode. You see Rome was a very rich city in ancient days, filled with gold and precious stones. Some invaders had gathered in hopes of getting big loot.

I see.

But when they heard the geese cackling they thought they'd better grab the geese and let the gold go. The cost of living was just as high then as it is now.

I comprehend.

They made off with the geese and thus Rome was saved.

Sand Songs in the Desert

In the North African desert at some times in the year a curious phenomenon can be heard.

It is the song of the sands.

No one can say whence this song comes, but it is due to atmospheric conditions.

There are two distinct sounds: one is like the wind in telegraph poles, the other like the after-reverberation of a big striking clock.

During the time the "song of the sands" can be heard some of the sand dunes when trodden on give out a hollow, bell-like sound, and where the surface of the desert is covered with sandstone a tinkling noise is heard when this is trodden on.—London Answers.

With characteristic thoroughness the Germans have devised a real burglar proof safe, so cleverly designed that it will baffle even the burglars who work with the latest of oxygen and acetylene blowpipes. It is called the carousel, or "roundabout safe."

It exhibits a polygonal steel structure revolving freely on ball bearings. It is built into a wall, and when the outer door is closed a small electromotor is set in motion, whereupon the safe starts revolving ceaselessly and noiselessly on its axis within its stone chamber.

Any tampering with its motions causes an alarm bell to ring. So long as the safe continues to revolve the blowpipe can have no effect upon it, since the flame cannot be applied long enough to any particular spot to make an impression.—Chicago Tribune

Before setting out for Vienna and Venice, William II, Emperor of Germany awaited at Berlin for his daughter, whom he calls his "best boy." She whom he calls his "best boy." She returned from Switzerland, where she made, according to the official version, a sojourn for her health. The gossip of the German court says this was really a lark to escape from the presence of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, to whom they wish to marry her without her consent. The Emperor and Empress were at the station when she arrived.

Hardly had the train stopped when the Princess hastily descended from the coach, and throwing herself impetuously into the arms of her father, exclaimed: "I will not marry him." The Emperor, smiling enigmatically responded: "I shall occupy myself with this alliance after the others." It is now said that this marriage can never take place, as the Grand Duke has withdrawn from the field.

The Kaiser has taken the Princess to Italy, and travel sometimes changes one's ideas.—Le Cri de Paris.

The Poet

The poet sang of sparkling rills And bursting buds and country lanes And violets and daffodils

And sweet, refreshing April rains, All muffled up and having chills, And doped with seven kinds of pills, He sat where smoke and fog were thick,

And looking from his window where it furnished little light or air,

Saw but a wall composed of brick And as he looked and as he wrote A lump rose in the poet's throat.

For he was weak and sad and sick; Fear, he said beneath his breath That I am doomed to starve to death Unless I sell this mighty quick.

Therefore the poet wrote away, Of promises that spring fulfill, And bravely let his fancy stray To gladness over distant hills.

Didsbury Wins Another

The third league football game of the season took place on Friday night last on the home grounds, the opposing team from Carstairs being defeated by the scores of 2 to 0.

The game, in the first half especially, was a hard one on account of the high wind which was blowing at the time and the dust which was raised.

The first score was made about ten minutes after play started and the second in the last half just before time was called and both were made by Frank Kauffman, who was playing in the forward line.

The playing of the Didsbury team was excellent, and the effect of the hard practising the team has been putting in lately showed in better combination work and all round playing.

The Carstairs team played a good defence game but were unable to put the sphere anywhere near where it was dangerous for the home team with the exception near the end of the first half, but they can credit their goalkeeper for his good work in keeping down a bigger score.

The line-up was as follows: Didsbury—Goal, L. Good; backs, N. Kalbfleisch and Reiter; half backs, Snyder, Mackey, McGee; forwards, Cole, Black, Topliffe; Kauffman, Siebel. Carstairs—Goal, Murray; half backs, Saddy and Burke; backs, Bouckock, Shiels, Mason; forwards, Ross, Terry, Descon, Morgan, T. Murray.

A good contingent of Carstairs people came up to see the game, Mr. Bodine, manager of the Koorlton, coadjutor, bringing up a number of young ladies as his guests, who lived up the proceedings very much with the bright Carstairs colors and their enthusiastic support of their team.

Unfortunately there was not as good a turnout of local supporters of the game as usual, perhaps on account of the unpleasant weather conditions that prevailed.

Mr. Alf Studer made an excellent referee and gave satisfaction to both sides in his decisions.

The Olds team are scheduled to play at Didsbury on Friday night next when a goal game is expected.

There was only one unpleasant feature in the game and this was caused by a number of the fans crowding in on the Carstairs goal, which was unfair to both teams. The goal umpires should see that they are kept away out of the goal line, otherwise a game may be lost through allowing this crowding.
